

ABSTRACT

A guide wire includes a distal end portion and a main body portion, wherein the main body portion includes a center layer formed of 5 a first material, a surface layer formed of a second material, and an intermediate layer formed of a mixture of the first material and the second material.